1. In what ways do you use the Internet?
I use the Internet for university assignments or to talk with other people online, sometimes for videos, Netflix, music and other entertainments.
2. What do you think the Internet is most useful for?
For finding useful information like: People's death, reasons for unimaginable things and videos of theories. Also, to communicate with other people in other continents like Asia and other places without having to travel.

D-Critical Thinking: Evaluating reasons

1. Why do you think Albert Lin and his team want to find the Genghis Khan's tomb?
 - a. Because that will help them discover a lot of our ancient history and find out who is Genghis's family, since he had a lot of children before dying, and if they find his body they can gain money by putting his bones in a museum.
2. Why does Lin think humans are better than computers at finding possible clues?
 - a. Because humans can discover things by their own by investigating in person and searching through the world, in the internet there is only limited information, if nobody knows it won't be on the internet either.

E-Personalizing

Yes, I would love being a citizen scientist on this project. Because it is something different and when it is found I would like to be proud to say I participated in the investigation. Also because it is something different than what we investigate in our daily lives.

Definition of citizen scientist: the collection and analysis of data relating to the natural world by members of the general public, typically as part of a collaborative project with professional scientists.
